UA 211/06 Fear for safety/Death Threats

EL SALVADOR William Hernández (m), Director of the Between Friends Association (Asociación Entre Amigos), a non-governmental organization working with lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) people
Members of *Asociación Entre Amigos

Members of the Between Friends Association (Asociación Entre Amigos), including the organization's director, William Hernández, have received death threats and are apparently under surveillance. This may be an attempt to halt the organization's work on behalf of lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) people in El Salvador.

At about 7.30pm on 1 June, William Hernández was threatened at gunpoint outside the office of the Asociación Entre Amigos, in the capital, San Salvador, soon after the police officer assigned to protect him had left him for the day. An unidentified man approached William Hernández from behind and put a gun to his neck, saying, "No voltees a ver. Tenés que dejar de joder en la Asamblea. Deja de hacer babosadas en la calle por que ya sé que estás organizando mierdas para este mes. Ya busqué dentro y no encontré nada y aquí voy a encontrar lo que busco; deja de joder o antes de que te cases te mato" ("Don't turn around. Stop fucking in the Assembly. Stop doing stupid things in the street because I know you are organizing some shit for this month. I already looked inside but didn't find anything. Here I'll find what I'm looking for. Stop fucking or I'll kill you before you get married".) The unidentified man grabbed a briefcase which William Hernández was holding, and ran off.

Two days before this attack took place, the office of the Asociación Entre Amigos had been raided. On 30 May, William Hernández and another member of the organization's staff arrived at the office to find that three windows had been broken, their files had been searched, and two threats had been written on pieces of paper and left in the office. One note read "culeros se mueren", ("fags' die"), and the other "esto es su merecido", ("this is what you deserve"). No valuable office equipment was stolen in the raid, but a number of documents were taken, including a hand-written programme of the organization's activities planned for June to celebrate sexual diversity. One of the activities was a demonstration in front of the Legislative Assembly opposing the ratification of a constitutional reform banning the marriage of same-sex couples and the adoption of children by lesbians and gay people.

Since the raid, the Asociación Entre Amigos has moved to a new office, but staff believe that they may be under surveillance. A number of unidentified men have been noticed outside the office, apparently keeping watch, for four to five hours each day.

The opposition Christian Democratic Party, (Partido Demócrata Cristiano, PDC) and the Catholic Church in El Salvador are campaigning for an amendment to the constitution that would make it illegal for same-sex couples to marry and adopt children. The amendment was approved by the Legislative Assembly in 2005 but now has to be ratified by the new parliament, elected in March. The Asociación Entre Amigos has been lobbying members of the legislative assembly and campaigning against this amendment.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The Asociación Entre Amigos provides sex education to LGBT people, as well as to the wider public. It has also spoken out about human rights violations against LGBT people and the failure of the authorities to investigate such abuses.

LGBT people in El Salvador regularly faces attacks and intimidation. The Asociación Entre Amigos has reported seven raids on their offices during the last five years. Although in all cases the incidents have been reported to the authorities, investigations into the incidents have proved superficial, and nobody has been brought to justice. William Hernandez still receives some police protection during his working hours following earlier threats against him (see UA 159/99 (AMR 29/06/99, 12 November 1999, and follow-up).
